MEDIA REPORTS ON ACTION BY THE INDONESIAN ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE

We understand from certain recent media reports that the Indonesian authorities have arrested certain judges who acquitted three palm oil companies of charges of corruption in obtaining export permits on bribery charges. A court last month acquitted the three companies, namely the Wilmar group, Musim Mas group and Permata Hijau group, of charges of misconduct in obtaining the export permits in 2022.

To the best of our knowledge, investigations so far have not involved the Wilmar group or any of its employees, but we will assist in any investigation if we are called upon. We believe we are not guilty of the charges as our actions during that period to increase the supply of palm oil to the market, despite the additional cost incurred, was intended to help the government improve domestic supplies and reduce prices. We wish to reiterate that the Wilmar group has zero tolerance for corrupt practices.
